For Immediate Release

November 8, 2010

MeetingOne® Announces Support for Adobe® Connect™ 8

DENVER – MeetingOne®, a worldwide provider of audio and web-based conferencing products and services and an Adobe Connect Gold Partner, announced today that it will offer the newly introduced Adobe® Connect™ 8 with integrated MeetingOne audio conferencing. The integrated solution includes advanced features such as high reservationless capacity, breakout room audio synch, self identification, two-way VoIP teleconference audio, and more.

Adobe Connect 8, released on November 1, 2010, builds on Adobe's market-leading web conferencing platform to provide even more tools and feature enhancements for the most outstanding user experience any conferencing and collaboration tool can provide today. The new capabilities include:

- Richness of Interactions: Drag and drop for easier navigation and meeting management. Advanced XMPP chat allows for tailored and more manageable public and private exchanges.
- Simplified User Interface: Automatic resizing and scaling and optimized screen use so you'll never lose valuable on-screen real estate; consolidated audio and visual controls; enhanced notes pod and whiteboard features for superior and engaging interactions.
- Enhanced Security: Optional password protection allows users to mitigate the risk of unauthorized access.
- Optimized Performance: Enhanced automatic failure prevention ensures a continual, uninterrupted meeting for you and your participants.
- Flexibility: Delivers rich content in cross-computing environments including Windows, Mac, Linux, and other environments.

The combination of Adobe Connect 8 and MeetingOne's advanced, integrated AudioOne audio conferencing service delivers: Synched audio with breakout rooms; token ID merge of telephony and Adobe Connect user presence; local access number display within Adobe Connect rooms; and maximum meeting quality and security. With Adobe Connect 8, MeetingOne can provide a complete enterprise solution to address your audio and web conferencing needs.
